PERSONAL MISREPRESENTATION.

In a recent article we commented upon the fact that the Board of Supervisors of Cook County, whether wisely or unwisely, need medical attendance, had a perfect right to their own opinion, and would not be permitted to force their opinion on others. Since then, however, we have had occasion to admire them for their prudence. We are also glad that the Chicago Medical College has taken the initiative in this noble reform, and we shall expect to see its example followed by other medical colleges.

JOINT STOCK COMPANIES CORRESPONDENCE AS ASYLUMS.

The Post commissioners who have been engaged in investigating the affairs of the bankrupt 3-Per-Cent (Land) Consols Company, in behalf of the various classes of parties interested, find that the utmost assets are £421,000, out of which £130,000 must be counted as unpaid subscriptions on the original Capital Stock, most of which was subscribed thirty-one years ago. Meanwhile the present equivalent of the original liabilities of the company is £1,407,000. As this is the present value of the liabilities on existing policies, after allowing for prospective premiums, the future liabilities are probably twenty times as great. In other words, to relieve the company would have to raise the capital from £130,000 to £2,600,000. It is safe to say that no prospectus containing so preposterous a statement as this would be allowed to go out. Yet the company has failed for £5,000,000. It is safe to say that no prospectus containing so long-continued an imposition could by hardly a possibility be perpetrated under the English law. Yet the same thing has been done in New York, in Illinois, and in Wisconsin. And the worst evil of it is that the example of such gigantic swindles as these is contagious. Men who are winning with the spoils. When our life insurance companies have emerged from their "years of wild-cat" sufficiently to get their affairs into a permanent and healthy condition, it will be time enough for them to boast their superiority over commercial corporations. Let them remember that the Congress of the United States was elected on one ticket, upon one pure question of principle, it might be that its very political purity would get about the number of representatives in Congress to which their number (if voters here in the Republican party) would entitle them. If the Democratic party could get about the same number of voters here in the Democratic party, it would be very largely increased with the Democratic party, it would be very largely increased with [illegible]

THEIR BLESSING.

A union meeting of the members of the First and Second Presbyterian and of Plymouth Congregational churches was held at the latter church on the evening of the 20th inst., for the purpose of bidding God-speed to seven missionaries who are about to leave for China. The services were conducted by Rev. Dr. Patterson, pastor of the First Presbyterian church, who read the 67th Psalm, as follows: "God be merciful unto us, and bless us; and cause His face to shine upon us; Selah. That Thy way may be known upon earth, Thy saving health among all nations. Let the people praise Thee, O God; let all the people praise Thee. O, let the nations be glad and sing for joy: for Thou shalt judge the people righteously, and govern the nations upon earth; Selah. Then shall the earth yield her increase; and God, even our own God, shall bless us. God shall bless us; and all the ends of the earth shall fear Him." Dr. Patterson then said: Let us bow before God in prayer, and ask Him to bless these servants of His, who are about to go to the heathen. Let us ask Him to bless them in their journey by sea and land, and to bless them in their labors when they reach the heathen. Let us ask Him to bless them in their families, and to bless the children that are left behind. Let us ask Him to bless the churches that are left behind, and to bless the churches that they are going to. Let us ask Him to bless the churches that they are going to, that they may be prepared to receive them, and to bless the churches that they are leaving, that they may be prepared to send forth others to take their places. Let us ask Him to bless the whole work of missions, that it may be carried forward to the speedy conversion of the world
